And we see how this creates a more beautiful world, both within ourselves and with our connection with others.

The book includes discussion and talking points for parents and teachers, as well as fun facts about roly-polies and frogs.

Author L. Leigh Love is an East Coast writer and artist who very much enjoys connecting with nature and all life. Her writing focuses on the inspirational and spiritual areas of life, with her artistic mediums being nature photography, acrylics, and alcohol ink. She is delighted to share the story, which is from the heart and sparked from a real encounter with a toad friend and roly-poly, she once met. She also worked as the Art Director for Roly-Poly and the Light.

Illustrator Sonja Oldenburg hails from Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Her work is inspired by botanical illustration, Art Nouveau, intricate motifs, and insect charts. She enjoys a lush and cluttered aesthetic, full of energy and detail in every corner of the canvas. She is passionate about drawing and illustration using colored pencils and ink pens. She loves working with an established subject and spontaneously letting it develop and grow as she draws.

Common names for Roly-Polies are Pill Bugs, Sow Bugs, Potato Bugs, Doodle Bugs, Armadillo Bugs, Cheesy Bugs, Wood Bugs, Ball Bugs, Butchy Boys, Slaters and more.

Roly-Poly and the Light is available in softcover, hardcover and ebook on www.amazon.com and www.barnesandnoble.com.
